The first part of the paper is devoted to a general statement of the facts which have been observed in the case of the disease. It is shown that the disease is characterized by a certain set of symptoms, and that it is caused by a specific agent. The second part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various theories which have been advanced to explain the origin of the disease.
 It is shown that the theory of contagion is the most plausible, and that the disease is spread by direct contact with the patient, or by contact with his secretions.
 The third part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various methods which have been employed to prevent the spread of the disease.
 It is shown that the most effective method is isolation, and that the disease can be prevented by keeping the patient away from other persons. The fourth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various treatments which have been employed to cure the disease.
 effective treatment is rest,
 cured by keeping the patient in bed. The fifth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various questions which remain to be solved. It is shown that there are still many things which we do not know about the disease, and that more research is needed to solve these problems.
